Rev. W. T. Young is this week attending the district meeting of the Methodist Church at Claresholm.

The auction sale put on by Mr. Cromwell at Lang's store last week was largely attended, and many secured good bargains.

A grand farewell ball will be given at the Rocky Mountain Sanatorium hotel this Friday night in honor of the departure of Mr. Chas. Vint of Calgary. A large number of invitations have been sent out, and it is expected the attendance will exceed that of any previous event. Dancing will begin at 9.30 and refreshments will be served throughout the evening.

Locally there is a general expression of regret at the intended departure of Mr. Vinet, and we join in wishing him all success in his future undertakings.

New Invention

James F. Peters, a prominent mine owner and inventor of Pennsylvania, is at present visiting the mining camps of The Crow's Nest Pass. Mr. Peters is the inventor of an improved door for coke ovens and is at present demonstrating the usefulness of the new invention at the coke ovens of the Leitch Collieries Co. at Folsie Plate, Passburg, after which similar demonstrations will be made at Coleman and Fernie.

Judgment in Favor of Mrs. Rudd

In the case of Mrs. Rudd, of Bellevue versus R. Marshall, W. Evans and Jas. Grafton, judgment has been given in favor of Mrs. Rudd in which the store attached to the Southern hotel is excepted from the lease and is held to belong entirely to Mrs. Rudd, and the defendants are restrained from in any way interfering with the store or any contents. Mr. J. C. Brokavski, of Campbell, Pawest & Brokavski, acted for the plaintiff as counsel throughout in the action at Macleod.

"A Famous Play"

One can almost count on their fingers the plays which have become immortal in the history of the English-speaking state. Thousands of plays have been written, but few there are that have endured the test of time and become a part of the life of the people. One play there is which seems destined to live long as the language lasts. This is Washington Irving's beautiful story of "Rip Van Winkle." One play there is which has been revived again and again, always with the most triumphant success. The children of the older folk as well as the pulpit and press have ever recognized "Rip Van Winkle" one of the most beautiful stories of which the stage can boast. One of the most important booklets at the local place, home to W. E. Lorraine's magnificent production of "Rip Van Winkle." A special of the play is being given at the local place. Verdict: "Accidental Death"

The jury sworn to enquire into the cause of the death of Steve Roboluk, namely, James Burgess, foreman; Duran C. Dray, juror; Shue George W. Beard, Ernest Hinde, Alexander Parker and John H. Murphy, brought in the following verdict on Friday evening last: "We, the jury, agree that Steve Roboluk accidentally met his death in the mine on or about August 21st, 1912, by a fall of coal causing suffocation, with no blame attached to anyone."

Dear Old, "Rip Van Winkle"

"Here's to your good health and your family's good health, and may you all live long and prosper." "Was there ever a more beautiful sentiment expressed by more tongue? Has there ever been a quotation more universally used? It is doubtful. The whole play of "Rip Van Winkle" is so thrilling with interest and interest and interest, so true to life that it is little wonder that for twenty-five years it has been the peer of all American drama. In a word, the play has received that "touch of nature which makes the whole world akin."

Mr. Wm. E. Lorraine, has made most elaborate scenic production of "Rip Van Winkle" for Canada this production has been offered and public and press have bestowed glowing tributes of praise on the beauty of the production and the excellent company. Every scene is so real and so set detail is missing. Even the dog Snyder, "Rip's" constant companion, and the gentle parrot cat before the fire-place will be seen.

How To Keep Trade In Your Town

The writer has asked many general merchants what they think should be done to fight department store competition.

In most cases the pessimistic reply has been given that very little can be done by a merchant in a small country town, but that a tax should be placed on all mail-order houses doing business in the country. The latter would not affect the large city houses to any great extent, if at all. On the other hand, it could cause them to go after the country business harder than ever and, as two or three merchants have said, would lead them to establish small branch stores in many sections of the country.

While merchants in country places are decrying the practice of their fellow citizens going to the city to purchase many articles, they themselves permit their wives and daughters to take periodical excursions to the city, often over a hundred miles away, to lay in a big stock of dress goods and other necessary wearing apparel and household articles. This is not the square thing. How much better it would be if the various merchants of the town were to get together and adopt the plan worked by the storekeepers in Mark, Texas, a little town of 3,000 people. The merchants of that town worked in conjunction with the local "Ad Club," and these methods, as told by Mr. Surratt, of the Oklahoma

Retail Association, were as follows:

"The plan we hit on was as follows: We had a couple of 'home trade' banquets, at which we presented the merchants and the clerks. Here we discussed nothing but 'home trade' and had our strongest speakers to show that the merchants and their wives must do all people practise home trade.

"We also ran a series of 'home talks' in the local paper.

These created a great deal of discussion on the part of the merchants and their wives and they began to realize that every dollar they sent out of town not only hurt the town, but hurt their business as well. Let a woman see that she is hurting her husband's business and she will get right in short order.

Women who at the beginning of the campaign openly declared that they were 'had,' and always would trade where they pleased and that they usually preferred to trade away from home, are now our best home trade preachers. And of course, when you get the women who back to the matter of the merchandise.

The retailer is the least considered of all advertisers in the 'dope' that is being handed out by the advertising experts and the advertising press—and has probably less representation in the advertising club of America than any other class of advertisers. Yet the aggregate expenditure of the retailer for advertising in the 30,000 newspapers of America is greater than the advertising of any other class of advertisers.

We undertook too to bring the farmers and the woman of the town over to us, by appealing to their loyalty and pride in the town. We attempted to make them see that Mart could never be a better town than the people of Mart made it. We showed them that a town to be a good town must be a good trading point. In short, the town would be just what they—the people of Mart—made it.

We were careful to point out to them that our merchants did not ask them for their trade at higher prices than they could pay for elsewhere. We gave them distinctly to understand that we could meet price—quality and terms considered.

We say city means city, and mail-order houses. We told them it was their duty to buy to the best advantage and all we asked was for them to give our merchants a chance at the order before they went to the city ordered.

"The method chosen for telling the Mart women and farmers these things was important.

First, we had to tell them in a way that was sufficiently striking to make them sit up and take notice. And second, we could not be too harsh, for this would have antagonized them and driven all the more trade away from town.

"So we began first to run the 'home trade' talks, mentioned above, in the Mart Herald. One of these appeared every week for about three months. These

'home trade' talks while written to be read by the Mart women and Mart farmers, were at first addressed to the merchants. The blame for home trade trading away from home was laid on the merchant rather than on the people. The merchants were told that if they would advertise more and advise the better they could hold for Mart all of her trade.

"Later on, at our first home trade banquet, we arranged for for mailing a home trade letter to every woman in Mart and every farmer in Mart vicinity.

Later the letter was asked them to tell us why, if ever, they found it necessary to trade away from Mart. In each letter they enclosed an addressed card for reply. In this letter we did not censure them for not trading at home, but asked them to help us solve the problem by giving us three reasons why, so we could make the proper recommendations to our merchants.

De Ross returned from his extensive trip last week looking even better than when he went away. During his tour of the province the doctor called at most of the important points where his visit was at Macleod, Calgary and Edmonton. He regrets that he was unable to visit Banff this trip, but his numerous engagements in the less important towns prevented his being able to visit this metropolis of the Grizzlies.

Mr. Fuchs has now taken charge of the Union Hotel at Hillcrest and his are beginning to look all right again.

Mr. Fuchs has had considerable experience in the hotel line and should make the place a success. Mr. Cunningham, the late proprietor, however, has left such a gap in the sporting circles of this town that the new manager will find his hard job to fill his place in this regard.

We trust that he will follow his predecessor's trackworthy example, in all sporting matters and join the ever-increasing crowd of Hillcrest boosters.

We understand that the Fraser Protectors are once again jumping into the creek to revive the washings of the zinks; consequently upon the exposure of the unprofitability, measles, unfairness followed by Hillcrest in winning the cup. At all things that cheer them up they are to be heard of the Noble six milely eluding the dogs and the "Sporty". We understand that they have learned the song by heart and are determined to benefit by the moral contained therein NEXT season.

The subject at both the Presbyterian and Baptist churches on Sunday night last was The Life of General William Booth, the deceased veteran founder of the Salvation army.

The members of the Blairmore Lodge of Oddfellows have contributed a very substantial sum towards the relief of brothers of that order who suffered from the recent disaster at Regina.

The Blairmore Reading Co., who recently moved into the west hall of the Budd block, have laid in a very large stock of dry goods, gentlemen's furnishings, boots and shoes, etc., and their store has a fine appearance.

The joists for Brice's new store arrived last week, after having Possibly you do some thinking if you don't you ought to. Now thinking does not mean dreaming, moonbouncing nor walking on stilts. Perhaps the chief subject that fills your mind is yourself. Well, next Sunday evening, the subject of the sermon at the Baptist church will be, "What Do You Think of Yourself?"

Rev. C. H. Huestis, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance Committee, will visit Blairmore this Friday evening and address a public gathering at 8 o'clock at the Central Baptist church. Mr. Huestis is one of the most fluent orators of the Canadian pulpit and no doubt a large audience will greet him here on Friday night.

Now that the Pollard's Juvenile Opera company are billed to make an engagement here, it is gratifying to find that they are winning the same golden opinions this season that they did the last tour of this continent, when the little Australians may be said to have literally taken this country by storm. The usual cold-blooded and cynical critics seem to melt under the influence of the happy juveniles and say nothing but what is pleasant. These youngsters may be taken quite seriously criticized accordingly.

"Rip Van Winkle," beautiful story of the Catskins, at the Blairmore opera house next Wednesday night.

Notes From Burnis

The pony race which was to have taken place on the 26th has been postponed until September the 7th.

Mr. G. A. Shori, of the Western Supply & Equipment Co. of Lethbridge, was a business visitor to town this week.

The exhaust on Barney Oldfield's car is nearly six inches in diameter, but Uncle says that's now, the wants to see Blaise.

Natural gas shares received a fillup and are standing at 90. Another line from the Hillcrest correspondent and by Jimmy they'd have reached par.

Talk about puzzles and mazes and brain break systems to baffle things up, but when you are through come down to Burnis and see the fun C.P.R. crews are having.

Talks that a paucorifice is a fool. We had better give him elbow room enough to build the platform he will have to appear on when performing before the great American Public.

We were looking over a plan of the city of Lethbridge the other day, and blase us Jane, if some fool didn't say it reminded him of New York. He observed that it was a little smaller, but then it has only been hatched.

Blairmore stunts are recommended to try their hand at operating, as the Leitch gasoline tractor before venturing out again for the good of the public. It is coupled on the end of the trip for safety purposes. Parade will leave.

A meeting of the local Union was held on the 25th, and was presided over by J. O. Jones, Vice-President of District 15 U.M.W. of A. The election of local officers took place and resulted as follows: James Murphy, President; Joe Adams, Recording Secretary; and Magdalen Treasurer.

The "King Of The Hills," supported by the reline (Messrs. McLeod and Burke) after an absence of many moons arrived this week in state. They have taken up their residence in Burnis for the present, and already have held many convocations with "Oil" the blue print kid.

The Gurus held their usual under usual auspices, and the following is a summary of the proceedings.

Resolved that the Secretary instruct Mr. Borden if there is anything left of him after the faguettes of Old England have had their go, to send down a few of the Frank alias experts to view the Panama Canal and report whether it is big enough for the U.S.A. to drown their credit in.

On looking through our files we notice a letter signed Arthur L. Sifton and dated March 20th, 1912. Yours in regard to construction of bridge over the Old Man River at Burnis, has been received and will receive the attention of the Department. Hurrah! We are now quoting 40 to 1 cash way.

Old Euclid himself could not solve the problem of how to switch box cars when all the tracks are full up and under the present system it is a common sight to see passenger trains delayed. The sooner the C.P.R. decide to extend their tracks and station a switch engine at this progressive end of the Pass the better it will be for all and sundry.

We note the very rare finish to the highly interesting article of the Hillcrest correspondent in last week's issue. All we can do in the matter is to ask whether the Hillcrest correspondent is calling for a show down or whether we can raise him. Three hundred beans is a comparatively small matter, but first, we must see the dough and secondly, knowing Hillcrest's questionable system of grouping players, we must see the line-up. We don't mind the money business but we don't care to guarantee to play a team representative of the whole Pass. Hillcrest, we know you have known you in the past and hope to know you in the future. We know your systems and machinations from the word go and we also know the singular history of the Noble Six, hence our conclusions.

Beard's Camp Notes

Borden, no doubt, is having a good time over the pond locked arm and arm with the dignitaries of those countries, but we are putting up a kick! Often we wonder back to his Laurie's.

A hint is better than a kick! This is no joke. Last week the patrolman's cow caught in the brush, and it was not long before the saying that married life is all gaiety has another guess coming.

Uncle Ned notices mention of the fact, that a "Natural Gas Company" is soon to be incorporated at Burnis, and as they are at variance as to which direction to lay the huge main, would kindly suggest the coast region, as from what he saw last year and has read of in this, he is of the opinion that they can procure an unlimited supply from the average real estate man, in fact, not only for local use, but for the world at large.

A model procession was seen passing south through here on Friday night last, composed of six cows, one horse, and seven cats, all headed by a lion. We presume they were taking a deserved airing after a whole ten hours' confinement in the Blairmore pound. The Bohemian band was not in attendance, but the missing link was fully supplemented by the low bass voices of the cows coupled with the sweet harmonies of the cats. A McLeod paper please copy.

At a meeting of the Wroughton Beuce Club last Wednesday morning it was decided to erect an up-to-date brewery for the manufacture of communion wine. As Uncle Ned purposes to make a specialty of the wine served over the communion "law" of his churches, the Beuce capitalists intend to do some speculation. The site for the new plant will be in Ninety-seventh Avenue and Appleby Square and it is intended to compete with the Blairmore brewery in a variety of church lagers.

Bealle-Britano Bout

At Bellevue Mountain

You should not fail to see the big 20-round championship boxing contest between Freddie Beale and Louis Britano at the Socialist hall, Bellevue, next Monday afternoon. For the convenience of those who wish to attend from points west of Bellevue, the bout has been arranged to take place at 4 in the afternoon, so that they may arrive on the noon local and return 6:30. No doubt the bout will be a good one and will attract a bumper house, for all who had the pleasure of witnessing the last bout between those two young adepts will not miss another exhibition staged by them.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY FOR LIVE INVESTORS

Lake City

Is the name of the Western Terminal Point of the proposed Crow's Nest Pass Electric Railway and is already tapped by the Pass line of the C. P. R., while the G. N. R. has already approached to within a few score of miles and must eventually pass through this admirably located town.

Lake City

Is located by the shore of Crow's Nest Lake, only a few miles east of the provincial boundary between Alberta and British Columbia, and just north of the international line. In reality, it is at the top of Canada where the majestic Rockies tower in serene magnificence over great chasms and numerous fords, reflecting their presence on the waters of this beautiful lake. Here also are afforded the very best tasks for the daring mountain climber and for huntsman who desires to outlive the quiet ways of the Rocky Mountain goat, sheep, deer or elk, which are the monarchy thereof. In close proximity are numerous timber, mineral and fuel resources, development of which is now in its initial stages. These resources include gold, quartz, coal, iron and pulp wood. Crow's Nest Lake has long been looked upon with promise as an admirable location for health and tourist resorts, and but now this promise is being realized. Plans for hotels, etc., are being arranged, as well as boat houses, and the most modern pleasure yachts will soon glide over the surface of this beautiful lake.

But a few weeks ago lots were placed on the market, and the agents have had their hands full attending to purchasers. Prices run from $150 up. For further particulars apply to the agents.
